

`You and your partner's names: Lucas,Caleb

Elements

- An element that is used is shape.
 - The way that shape is used is when circles make up the subject's head and eyes, and ears.
 - This element captures the viewers' attention by drawing your eyes to the focal point of the image because the circle shape stands out. Circles also define the character as friendly
-
- Another element that is used is line
 - The way that line is used with his tail , smooth curve of his ears
 - This element captures the viewers' attention because it smooth look and make him look easy going

Principles

- A principle that is used is balance.
 - The way that balance is used is with his hand raised is asymmetrical
 - This principle captures the viewers' attention because his hands raised captures attention to what he might do next.
-
- Another element that is used is contrast.
 - The way that scale is used, you can notice that the face has many large exaggerated features.
 - This principle captures the viewers' because of his of the bright colors and large ears

Elements

- An element that is used is color
 - The way that color is used is his suit and his hair tanned skin
 - This element captures the viewers' attention, they make him look like a formal person, that likes to get his skin tanned
-
- Another element that is used is tone
 - The way that tone that are used is that it shows his tanned skin tone to his yellow hair, and the difference of his teeth
 - This element captures the viewers' attention because it makes him look like he is talking like a grumpy politician.

Principles
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• A principle that is used is contrast• The way that contrast is used, it shows the outlines in his suit and wrinkles in his skin• This principle captures the viewers' by making him look sloppy
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Another element that is used is pattern• The way that pattern is used is in his hair• This principle captures the viewers' attention because it makes his hair more realistic.